

Cantor Workshop

January 17, 2015

Holy Redeemer Church

College Park, MD

This winter's Cantor Workshop will be held in the Eastern part of the Archdiocese of Washington. It is designed for beginning cantors (just learning the skill); more experienced cantors (refining their skills); and for those who work with cantors (refreshing their expectations of cantor skills).

To the casual observer, a cantor is the person who stands up front; sometimes singing alone, sometimes leading the people in the pew. Casual observation does not do justice to the role!

Sing to the Lord, Music in Divine Worship, speaks first of the Psalmist or cantor of the psalms. In paragraph 35 it says, "Persons designated for the ministry of Psalmist should possess the ability for singing and a facility in correct pronunciation and diction". This is because they are proclaiming the Word, and should do so with "clarity, conviction, and sensitivity to the text, the musical setting, and those who are listening" (#35). The document continues to note that Cantors are vitally important if there is to be full, conscious, active participation of the assembly – a primary goal of the Constitution on the Sacred Liturgy of the Second Vatican Council. Effective cantors use modest gestures that invite participation and clearly indicate when the assembly is to begin.

DIRECTOR'S CORNER

Reflect with me on Christ among us...

The eminent liturgical theologian John Baldovin once wrote, “the worshipping assembly is a group of baptized individuals honestly struggling to incarnate the Gospel in their lives.” This statement, in an already-but-not-yet fashion, communicates well the connection between our liturgical worship, our participation in the life of Christ, and our desire to be in and serve the world by being Christ in the world. This is an apt reflection for our ongoing celebration of Christmas-time, as we continue to contemplate the coming of Christ – Christ who is already-but-not-yet fully present, a presence for which we still pray and yearn. Yet to the extent that we, members of the Body, are Christ to the world, showing in our lives and choices both our love for the marginalized, the unfashionable and the resource-less, and in our stewardship of creation, Christ is already here. Our worship propels our lives to say: Marana tha – come, Lord! Move us to be more fully your Body “for the life of the world.”

Become a member of NPM National...

Friends, I encourage you to join NPM at the national level! National membership includes a subscription to Pastoral Music, a bi-monthly journal that is truly essential to functioning pastoral musicians. You also receive a weekly newsletter and deep discounts to NPM events such as the annual convention, webinars and other workshops. Your national membership also supports the vital work of NPM. There are reduced membership rates for youth and seniors!! Go to www.npm.org for more info. If you've never been a national member, this is a perfect time to try it out – treat yourself to being connected in a new way to an amazing organization working to “foster the art of musical liturgy.”

And finally, some news from the Arlington Chapter Board...

The Arlington Board thanks Susan Trainor for her years of service on the Board, most recently as Membership Coordinator, handling intake and processing of membership materials, keeping our member role up to date, and managing email communication with you our members. For the last several years, Susan also coordinated, for both our chapter and the DC chapter, the discount group registration for annual national conventions. All these tasks take time, organization and constant attention, and we really thank Susan for her faithful stewardship of this responsibilities!

Board members E.J. Cochran and Tim Lewicki will now be sharing the Arlington Membership responsibilities, with E.J. (ejcochran@aol.com) receiving your chapter membership renewals and questions about chapter membership. Thank you E.J. and Tim!!

Send Arlington Chapter Membership Renewals to:

Annual Gathering of the Pastoral Musicians of Southern Maryland

Saturday, January 24, 11:30am - 2:30pm

Ann Duchesne's home on Breton Bay
Topic: Sacraments and Song

* * *

2015 marks the 11th year that Musicians of Southern Maryland have gathered at the Duchesne Home at the end of January.

This year we'll consider the importance of music in the celebration of Sacraments and other liturgies, especially funerals.

* * *

As always, Ann will prepare a delicious lunch, and there is no fee.

Please call Ann (301-475-6915) by January 19 for directions.

There is no official registration for this gathering, but your call tells her how many are coming.

*If you can, borrow a copy of your parish's hymnal or other worship aid for the afternoon.

MUSICIAN AVAILABLE

Beginning January 2015, Julia Atwood is available as a substitute or part-time cantor, soprano soloist, choral director, or organist for weekend Masses and evening rehearsals.

Mrs. Atwood is currently taking a break from full-time music ministry after serving as the Director of Music at St. Veronica Catholic Church in Chantilly, Virginia for the past six years. Bio and audio portfolio are available at

Lenten Retreat for Pastoral Musicians with Sr. Honora Warner, OP

Saturday, February 21, 9am - 2:30pm
Theological College (at CUA)
401 Michigan Avenue, NE, Washington DC

Sr. Honora is Associate Professor of Homiletics and Director of the Doctor of Ministry in Preaching Program at the Aquinas Institute of Theology. She is well-known as a leader of reflection days and retreats, and has given many talks and keynotes, including a plenum address at the 2014 NPM Convention on “Vatican II and the Church as Bearer of Good News.” In addition to a DMin in Preaching, Sr. Honora holds degrees in Scripture, History, and Music, including an MM from CUA. As the Convention brochure noted last Summer, Sr. Honora “did” pastoral music in parishes and schools for many years.
